John J. McGraw. Muggsy McGraw of New York-I believe the Cubs are better than ever because they have come back after losing the pennant last year. I can-not see that the Athletics are so much better off than they were in 1905, when we beat them with ease. I pick the Cubs to win the world's series from the Athletics.

George Stallings.

Hugh Duffy of Chicago—Philadel phia has a very fine staff of twirlers it is not very large, but large enough to best the Cubs. Both Bender and Coombs should do great work against the Cubs, and Morgan and Plank can' be counted out of the running by an means. Chicago has the best pair o catchers in the country, and that is where the Cubs will have the better of the Athletics. However Kling and Archer will have to make pretty fast throws to head off Eddie Collins, once the youngster gets started.

Fred Clarke.
Manager Clarke of Pittsburg—I cannot very well discuss the outcome of the world's series between the Cubs and the Athletics, for I do not yet concede that the Cubs have won, or are going to win the National lea-gue pennant. I think the Pirates still have a chance to win. The Athletics are strong, but I think the Pirates, If they get a chance to meet Mack's team, would be victorious. I concede to Connie Mack one of the best pitch ing staffs in the country, but I think the Pirates would overbalance him In other departments. The Cubs measure up to the Athletics in pitching, and if they should win, I think I would pin my faith to the old

Charles Dooin. Manager Charles Dooin of Phila-delphia-I don't think the Athletics will be able to trim the Cubs, althoug I have a great deal of respect for Connie Mack's men. The cubs will win because they have had more experlence. Their team play is less likely to go to pieces in a pinch. Plank, Coombs and Bender are great pitchers, but they will meet their match in Overall, Reulbach, Brown and Cole. The Detroits were easy because they lacked good catching material. The Athletics are strong in this department. I look for a hotly contested and interesting ser

Clark Griffin. Manager Clark Griffin of Cincin-nati—I think the Cubs will win from the Athletics in the coming world's series, if the two teams clash. The Cubs are an older team, and their team play will cut a great figure. If Reulbach continues to improve, the Cubs will not have to worry about their pitching staff, for with Brown, upon they will sail along with colors

James McAleer. Manager McAleer of Washington— I think it is an even money bet, but personally I am basing my hopes on the Athletics. They are a younger the Athletics. They are a younger team, have grand pitchers and are hitting at a terrific rate. I realize that the Cubs are one grand baseball machine, but think that when the test comes the Athletics' pitching and hit-ting will win. The Philadelphia catchers do not rank as high as those of the Cubs, but they are not chil-dren or imbeciles, and if the Cubs start to running wild on them they are going to strike a snag. It is mistake to suppose, as many seem to be doing, that all the Cubs have to do s to reach first, then meander around to third and walk home as they Oily-Tongued Real Estate Promoter Dupes Many Victims and Vamooses.

Salt Lake, Sept. 8.—After posing as a legitimate real estate promoter, with unlimited capital behind him. a man who operated here for about five weeks under the name of L. A. Drew, has vanished from the cityleaving a long list of sadder but wiser men, and taking with him the spoils of a cleverly laid and well executed "skin game."

The first of the post season livegame series between Murray and the Occidentals will be played Saturday at Sandy. The game was originally billed for Murray, but the Sandy fans put in a good bld and got the game.
Sandy has a better ball park than Murray, and some ball fans as well.
The second game will be played at Walker's field Sunday. There is much interest seen in the series with the Drew first made himself known in self to be a resident of St. Louis, with a large amount of money, which he said he intended putting into Salt Lake real estate. He showed drafts on a St. Louis bank, which, when interest seen in the series, with the backers of both teams lining up to investigated later, were found to be bogus, while Drew was unknown to any of the bank officials. Drew suc ceeded in renting office room No. Manager Margetts has lined up a in the Newhouse building by pretend-ing that he had large sums of money strong pitching staff in Hummell, Heusser, Prive and McCreery With in the now defunct State bank of Hailey, Ida. He established headquarters, fitting his office with $300 worth of fixtures obtained from the Breeden Office Supply company,

He secured from J. S. Johnson, well known property owner, a trace of 105 lots in Johnson's State street addition at State street and Thirteenth South, giving Johnson no se-curity except a fine, smooth line of talk. Then Drew took prospective customers down to the tract, showed them the property, and, for sums ridiculously small, agreed to build them homes. In several instances, it is said, he accepted sums as small as $50 and started work on the buildings, with the agreement that the re-mainder of the cost of construction, together with interest and such other items as developed, should be paid at a later date.

The actual building operations attracted friends of the first victims, and for a time Drew's business was flourishing. From different lumber companies he secured materials to start construction, placing but one of der with each firm and getting the lumber on credit in return for his promise to deal extensively with each of them in the future.

Then carpenters and cement work ers were employed, but nobody was given any money, the only coin changing hands being between Drew and his victims. Vera Hayes, daughter of G. F. Hayes of 749 East Twelfth South street, was given a position as stenographer. She worked three weeks, receiving 50 cents and a book of car tickets.

Drew's plan was to sell as many homes" as possible, to collect as much as his victim had or would part with, to beguile his victims by having lumber moved onto the lots, free of cost to him, and to leave town as soon as his resources were exhausted, taking with him everything be had collected.

The matter has been brought to the attention of the Real Estate asso-ciation, and was taken up yesterday at the association's regular meeting.

slayer of George W. Fassell, is making a last desperate endeavor to secure through the courts his life. This afternoon his attorneys, James M. Denny, M. E. Wilson and E. A. Walton, will argue before Judge Lewis. the magistrate who sentenced Thorne to pay the death penalty, a motion is denied the attorneys, it is rumored, will carry the case into the supreme court on appeal. In the meantime the sheriff is carrying out his preparations for the execution set for Friday at the state prison.

The motion for a new trial in the Thorne case was filed in the district court yesterday afternoon. The motion is based on the principal grounds that during a portion of the period of the trial of Thorne, the defendant is the principal grounds. was absent from the court room, and upon the allegation that the jurors trial received evidence out of court other than that resulting from a view of the premises, likewise com-munications, documents and other papers bearing on the case with pre-judicial effect to the defendant. A further allegation is made that dur ing the trial the jurors were allowed and permitted to separate without the permission of the court, after re-tiring to deliberate upon the verdict.

Thorne's affidavit, lengthy in its na-ture, recited in part: "While the jury was deliberating upon the verdict the respective jurors entered into an agreement whereby it was understood and agreed by and among said respective jurors that they would not divulge the name of any juror who voted for a recommendation that the defendant be imprisdation that the defendant be impris-oned in the state prison for life; that during the course of the deliberations of the jurors upon their verdict in this case at least 15 ballots were taken and that at least one of the jurors voted for such recommendation for at least 14 times.

"That the defendant, by reason of said wrongful and unlawful agreement, is unable to discover whether or not there were any other improper means used to induce said juror to change his mind upon said subject."

"My conviction was based upon perjured testimony, to wit: Two wit-nesses who swore to my identification at my trial swore on the trial in said court on the trial of one Riley for the same offense that they were un-able to identify any other person ex-cept said Riley, and I have only since the 15th day of July discovered said fact of said testimony in the Riley case as to one of said witnesses and upon the 3rd day of September as to the other witnesses.

An affidavit of James A. Bateman, one of the jurors, is offered to sub-stantiate the statement of Thorne that the jurors had agreed not to divulge the name of the juror who held out for 14 ballots for life imprisonment instead of the death penalty.
